Data Protection:

Planning your booked event requires your personal data. We require your data for the purpose of contract performance. Your personal data will only be used in compliance with applicable data protection laws and not transferred to third parties for other purposes.

If online, the course will be held as an interactive Zoom course. Further information about how Zoom treats personal data is provided at <https://explore.zoom.us/docs/de-de/privacy-and-legal.html>

All participants may attend via camera and microphone. This means that the names and image transfers of the other participants will be displayed to all participants. The course will not be recorded or stored otherwise!

Images, sounds and names will only be streamed while the class is in session.

Through his/her signature, the participant confirms to have read the data protection information to be provided under Article 13 of the GDPR for DGK event participants.
